

Privacy Policy for Chudleigh Phoenix Community Magazine

It is our policy to respect your privacy regarding any information we may collect from you or which you may provide to us, in the circumstances set out below. Accordingly, we have developed this privacy policy in order for you to understand how we collect, use, communicate, disclose, safeguard and otherwise make use of your personally identifiable information (“Personal Data”).

We have read the Information Commissioner’s Office guidelines for compliance with the new General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) rules. If you have given us your email address or other Personal Data (by emailing, subscribing to the website, or providing your email at one of our events for example) you should read this to reassure yourself we are looking after your data responsibly. We value the security of your information and will never intentionally breach the rules.

We will only collect and use your Personal Data where:

- We have lawful grounds to do so, including to comply with our legal obligations;
- We are performing a contract with you for our services; and
- We have legitimate interests in using your Personal Data and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.

This policy is effective as of September 2020. We review our privacy practices on an ongoing basis, and as such we may change this privacy policy from time to time. Please check this page frequently to ensure you are familiar with its current content.

Once we have contacted you with a reminder about the T&C of our holding your data, we regard this consent as confirmed for a year, or until you ask us to remove the data. We have never harvested email addresses, nor would we. Anyone on our list has contacted us either through the website or in person.

Consent is not indefinite, so we will make sure we remind you annually that you can unsubscribe or ask for your data to be removed.
